

BANK OF COMMERCE TO BUILD ADDITION TO PRESENT OFFICE

Enlargement Of Building Will Cost Approximately $25,000 — New Addition To Be 15x40 With 16 Foot Ceiling — New Vaults And Modernistic Fixtures To Be Installed.

Another indication of the growth and prosperity of Grimsby and the Fruit Belt can be found in the announcement made this week by John Holder, local manager of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, that a new, large addition will be erected to the present bank building on Main street at an approximate cost of $25,000.

The contract for this new addition has been let to George A. Beatty of Hamilton, and it is expected that work will commence within the next few days.

The new addition will be the full width of the present building, namely 40 feet and will be 15 feet in depth and the same height of the present building, namely 16 foot ceiling. The present vault will be torn out and a new vault, double tier, 11 feet by 14 feet will be built at the rear of the new portion of the building. A basement will be excavated the full size of the new addition and a large storage vault constructed therein.

SPEED FIENDS ARE DUE FOR A LOT OF GRIEF

Provincial Police Are Cracking Down On Careless Drivers—Far Too Many Accidents In This District.

A campaign against speeding and careless drivers, in which "no quarter will be given or asked" was indicated by members of the local provincial police detachment this week as they checked records which showed a heavy volume of traffic accidents during April.

"There are entirely too many accidents on the highways in our district," say the provincials. "We are going to crack down on any violations of the traffic code, particularly in relation to drivers."

It was pointed out that on one recent Saturday night one provincial police traffic officer had had seven accidents in his zone. There were quite a few accidents, particularly on the Queen Elizabeth Way between Grimsby and St. Catharines last month, and provincial police fear that as summer traffic increases this year, the accident rate will rise sharply.

Many of the accidents have in-

Progressive Grimsby Industry

(By ART BRYDON AND DON RICHES, Independent Staff Writers)

Many of the good citizens of Grimsby pride themselves on their knowledge of their community. Probably about one hundred and fifty of these citizens are familiar with one of the major industries of their community. This unknown industry is boot making, and the factory in which this manufacturing goes on is at Grimsby Beach. While a separate community from Grimsby it is only two short miles away. On Park Road, the east side, just one lot south of the railroad tracks is situated the factory of E. J. Gadsby and Sons. The only indication of the factory's presence to the non-observant passer-by is a neat stone driveway at the end of which may be seen the front double doors of the Gadsby plant. Further back, if one looks skyward, the silver-coloured smokestack may be seen. If not for these recognizable points the factory would remain unseen from the road in front. Two residences, one fine brick home on the right and a smaller, newer home on the left, cover up almost completely the good sized building which houses the industry—E. J. Gadsby & Sons, Leather Footwear.

The craft of shoemaking is an old and honoured one. And the name Gadsby has long been associated with this craft. In 1820 in the district of Cambridge and Ely in England was born W. B. Gadsby. Mr. Gadsby, after seven years apprenticeship, became a custom shoemaker (not to be confused with cobbling). He made shoes to the specifications of the buyer and made them all by hand. And in the 19th century a pair of custom built shoes was a work of art. He came out to America, to Memphis, Tenn., at the period of north-south disunity before the Civil War. In 1850 he decided he would be better off under the British flag, and journeyed north to Canada where he set up his shoemaking business in St. Catharines.

For 35 years he carried on his craft there before he went to the city of Toronto. Here he remained, raised a family, and died in 1900. His son, E. J. Gadsby, carried on his father's business and like his father raised a family—two sons and one daughter. Mr. Gadsby came from Toronto to Grimsby Beach in 1925 and the nucleus of the present factory was formed. His two sons, Edwin and Norman, are leather craftsmen like their father and grandfather before them, and grew up learning the trade. Their father took them into business with him in 1936, and the present company, E. J. Gadsby and Sons, was formed.

The present factory, on the outside, looks cleaner and is better constructed than the average home. The word "factory" certainly does not fit in the case of the Gadsby building. It is a frame construction and the outside walls are painted white and are a credit to its owners.

Moving inside through the main entrance we enter an L-shaped room, equally clean, in which the black cowhide leather of the finest grade obtainable is cut in the desired shapes. This room is called the Cutting Room and is occupied by three long tables. On a typical cutting table are two cutting boards made of white pine with an end grain surface. The cutter lays the leather on these and with a small, razor-sharp knife shapes out the various boot parts from the leather. However, it is not as simple as this. The leather arrives at the factory in 100 pound bundles of hides. These hides are half entire back hides of the cattle and the leather's toughness, pliability, softness, depends on the various parts of the hide. For example: the tongue of a boot is cut from the soft pliable leather around the backbone of the cow; the quarter (or side) of the boot is shaped from the best leather having the softer part at the top, and is cut from the side of the bend; the vamp or forepart requires toughness and resistance to wear and is cut accordingly. To become efficient at wielding the cutting knife around the various patterns which are placed on the right type of leather, according to the pattern, it is easily seen, requires a great amount of skill and many years of work to learn. It is truly one of the most skilled of trades.

Next comes the Fitting Room—a large square room with rows of the many different sewing machines. This room is a picture of excellent working conditions. Large windows run the length of two walls; the walls and ceiling are re-

HOSPITAL DIRECTORS LAYING PLANS FOR NEW EXTENSIONS

Permanent Laundry Is An Absolute Necessity — County Council Grants $1,500 For This Purpose — Extension For Greater Bed Capacity Under Consideration.

The annual meeting of the West Lincoln Memorial Hospital members was held on Thursday last in the Community Hall, Beamsville.

Reports by the Directors, Auditors, Medical Council and Ladies' Auxiliary were approved, together with a By-Law providing for representation on the Board of Directors from certain municipalities.

Tribute was paid to the Ladies' Auxiliary who during the year played a very important part in bringing the Hospital into operation.

The thanks of the community was voiced by Mr. Stanley Globe for the effective manner in which the operating staff as a whole have established a remarkable reputation for good and efficient service for the Hospital.

Mr. W. R. Boehm, treasurer, dealt in cold figures, showing the institution to be in a sound financial position, and an appreciation was recorded to those canvassers who made this possible.

MOUNTAIN FARMERS ARE BEHIND WITH SEEDING

Land Too Wet And Cold—Spring Work Should Have Been Finished By Now—Fall Wheat Good.

Weather in the Fruit Belt this spring has not been all that the fruit growers and farmers would have liked it to be. It has been too wet and too cold and as a result there is not one acre of seeding done over the mountain, whereas in an ordinary year the grain farmers would practically be finished with their spring work by this time.

Sunday night and Monday morning was very cold for the dying days of April. It froze below the mountain and on the hill it froze very hard.

While fruit growers have been able to keep the spray waggons going, their neighbors on the mountain have been unable to get on the land at all. Fall wheat looks good but as one farmer expresses "this weather cannot go on much longer or the wheat will be injured." Farmers also state that

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT WINS COUNTY ORATORICAL CONTEST

Arthur Brydon Gives Impressive Address On "Racial Intolerance" Before St. Catharines Lions Club — Wins $200 Scholarship And Hall Trophy — Placed Second Last Year.

Honors were brought to Grimsby and to Grimsby High School on Tuesday night, when Arthur Brydon, a student at the local school and a Cub Reporter on The Independent staff, carried off the top honors in the St. Catharines Lions Club oratorical contest, open to all pupils in Lincoln County.

Arthur placed second in the contest last year, but on Tuesday night he was far and away the best speaker to appear before the four critical judges.

In winning this contest he receives a $200 scholarship to any university in Canada and the Hall Trophy, presented by Herbert Hall of Hamilton, which he retains for one year.

A transcription of his address, "Racial Intolerance," appears herewith.

This evening I put before you a number. 250,191. 250,191. That, my friends, is a big number. That's enough people to fill Maple Leaf Gardens 17 times. That's 190 times the population of an average Canadian small town. But, believe it or not, that's the number of people in Canada today who are not get-

TAX RATE OF NIAGARA IS SET AT 59 MILLS

An Increase Of Eight Mills Over Last Year—$7,000 Increase For School Purposes And New School.

(Niagara Advance)

The tax rate for the Town of Niagara will this year show an increase of eight mills over 1946, but none of this increase is made up by the Council planning to spend more money for ordinary work. In fact a cut was made in some departments to keep the rate as low as possible.

The rate was set at a special meeting of the Council Tuesday night at 90 mills, less the one mill provincial subsidy. This is made up of 57.7 mills plus 2.3 mills for garbage and ash collection.

This rate will bring in the total revenue of $58,443. This year the Board of Works budgets for $10,580 or $400 less than last year; the police departments $4,340 or a drop of $200. The Fire and Water Committee asks $2,965, an increase of 360 for new hose; Park and Shade is same as last year at $1,175; $2,000 is set aside for the town hall upkeep, being $400 higher than last year as this year the hall insurance comes due; administration will cost $45,990 or $200

BEAMSVILLE MAN PURCHASES TAYLOR NURSERY FRUIT FARM

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER TO THE PEACH KINGS

Will Be Tendered By Town Of Grimsby On Monday Evening Next—Will Not Be Public Affair.

All details in connection with the dinner being tendered to the Champion Peach Kings by Town Council were ironed out on Thursday night last when the committee in charge under the chairmanship of Reeve Hewitt met in the Clerk's office.

The recognition by the municipality of the great honor brought to this district by the Peach Kings will be in the form of a complimentary dinner and it will be held in The Oak Room of The Village Inn on Monday evening next May 5th. The dinner will not be a public one, but will be attended by Municipal officials, O.H.A. officials, club executive and Arena officials as well as the team.

Frank Gnu, Coach of Hamilton Wildcats, who has gained much prominence at such occasions, will be the guest speaker.

Lincoln County Council will make a bus tour of inspection over the County Road System on Tuesday and Wednesday next.

Charles McConaghy Secures 65 Acres Of The Finest Land In The Fruit Belt — Will Keep Main Portion And Re-Sell The Balance — Crown Deed Grant.

A real estate deal of considerable importance was closed last week whereby the Taylor Nursery Fruit Farm, at the Lower Thirty, has been sold.

This farm, which is one of the best in the Niagara District was originally granted by the Crown in 1798 to Daniel House. After passing through several hands it was purchased by the late James Taylor in 1916.

The late Mr. Taylor, who was well known in Grimsby, having previously owned a farm on Lake Street, established the business of Taylor Nurseries and in addition to operating an up to date fruit farm, did a thriving business in Nursery Stock, specializing on best quality Peach stock.

On the death of Mr. Taylor in 1932, his widow, Mrs. Taylor, was faced with the problem of carrying on the farm and nursery business, and at this time her nephew, Mr. Eric Jamieson assumed the active management of the property and continued until the time of his Driver Wrecks Delivery Truck On Queen Elizabeth Way—Constable Places Foodstuffs In Cold Storage.

Following an accident in which his meat delivery truck was involved on the Queen Elizabeth Way outside of town late last Wednesday afternoon, Harold E. Elliott, 112 Knox Avenue, Park View Survey, Wentworth County, was taken into custody by Provincial Constable William Gillings on a charge of having care and control of a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

So far as police were able to determine, no other vehicle was involved in the accident, in which Elliott's truck swerved to the soft shoulder of the highway and overturned.

So that the meat in the truck would not be spoiled, police had it placed in cold storage.

Elliott appeared before Magistrate Hallett in St. Catharines Police Court on Thursday and was remanded for a week.

Woman Operates Largest Peach Ranch In Pacific Coast States — Ultimate Goal Is Supplying World Markets By Air Shipping—Has Moved 2,000 Tons In Single Crop.

(By ISABEL MURRAY HOYT, in The Christian Science Monitor)

"My ultimate goal? Well, air-shipment could mean world markets for our peaches, that's my goal!" This was Beryl LaFollette's answer to the question about her future plans for Oregon's largest and most famous peach orchard, which she operates near Salem.

It sounds ambitious but certainly not impossible when one realizes that just five years ago she was faced with an almost overwhelming combination of circumstances—widowhood, after only six years of marriage; three small sons; this orchard (about which she had no practical knowledge), ready for harvesting 500 tons of peaches, its largest crop to that time; and a war-time manpower shortage—yet she won through.

"Oregonians are quick to revert to type," says Mrs. LaFollette in describing that harvest, "and the West was pioneered by people who built for themselves with one hand and helped a neighbor with the other."

IMMACULATE FRUIT ORCHARDS ARE RAPIDLY DISAPPEARING

RAILWAY EMPLOYEE IS GIVEN MERIT MARKS

Art Childs Acted Promptly When Roof Blown Off Fruit Shed—Blocks C.N.R. Main Line.

During the heavy wind storm of April 6th the big fruit shed at Apriona station was unroofed and blown across the main line C.N.R. tracks.

Art Childs, cross watchman at Grimsby, and a C.N.R. employee of many years standing lives adjacent to the Winona station. He was off duty at the time but seeing that the main line was blocked he immediately rounded up a large number of men to have the debris removed. He notified the dispatcher in Hamilton as to what had happened and also flagged down cheo trains.

By the time the "Big Hook" arrived from Hamilton, Art and his plunger workers had the tracks cleared sufficiently to allow the cheo flagged down trains to proceed on their way.

For his timely and prompt action Mr. Childs has been awarded merit marks by the C.N.R. railway officials.

Sod Cultivation Is Much Preferred To Ploughing — Growers Are Working Toward Less Cultivation And Less Depth Of Cultivation, Thus Saving Organic Matter And Plant Food.

The neat, well-groomed appearance of orchards, fields and vineyards, so long a source of wonder to tourists in the Niagara Peninsula, appears doomed to become a thing of the past. As revolutionary practices advocated by horticultural experts become common practices, the finger of scorn recently directed toward the lazy farmer growing apples or pears in sod, may soon point out the ignorant man, continuing the practice of immaculate cultivation.

"Definitely," says J. R. Van Haarlem, of the Horticultural Experimental Station, Vineland, "we are cultivating too much although not as much as 20 years ago." "Along with the personnel of other agricultural institutions," he stated, "we are working toward less cultivation and less depth of cultivation."

During a series of farm forum discussions held during the winter months in various centres throughout the county, Mr. Van Haarlem

FACTS & FANCIES

SMALL TOWNS

A good many things have been said about the "small town" spirit—mostly in derision.

Urban wisecracks have multiplied their jokes about it, and those who come to the defence of it often do not get much support.

As small towns have pretty much the same type of community outlook everywhere, it is interesting to note what a New York newspaper has to say in a descriptive article about them.

In short it is this: The small town man is an individualist who "believes in the virtue of work and thrift and honest dealings." He speaks his mind with bluntness and keeps the eye sharply peeled on local civic affairs (seldom considered worth while in larger places); he will not tolerate graft.

He takes a pride in living within his means and making the local government do the same thing. His life is "largely a matter of making an honest living... educating his children so that they can do better in life than his parents have done... living in peace and harmony... and finding pleasure in the simpler things of life."

So there doesn't seem to be much wrong with small towns, except, perhaps, that there are not enough of them.

SPRING TIME

This is the time of the year when you put the snow shovel away, and get the lawn mower in shape for cutting the grass...

You throw off your worries about the standing of the hockey teams, but wonder whatever can be done to put the softball nine in a respectable position...

You pull the wadding out of the cracks around the storm windows, but remember you'll need some to stuff around the screens.

You realize with relief Johnnie can now let off steam out of doors, but that this will happen in company with his playmates right under your open study window...

You won't have to listen to Susie's phonograph "jam" sessions in the living room twice a week, but will soon hear them going on all over the neighborhood on warm summer evenings...

You can let the cat stay out all night, but won't have radar to help you aim the alarm clock.

You can help your neighbor keep his flower beds, garden and lawn looking decent by keeping your dog under control, and at home.

But something down inside you has already stirred, wakening to all these gentle harbingers. Mendelssohn tried to say it in music—

It's spring.

THE RURAL CHURCH

It is sad to note the frequency with which country churches have been forced to close their doors during the past few years. Some have had to discontinue services because of too few worshippers, others through doubling up of congregations, and some because of an insufficient number of clergy.

But no matter the cause, the closing of a church removes from a community the very centre of its life, and must be regarded as a truly serious loss. The influence of the church is beyond estimation, and no sacrifice is too great for members to maintain their own place of worship.

It is significant that the early pioneers recognized the true value of the church because every settlement, no matter how small, had its own edifice. It was one of the first buildings erected, and the spiritual guidance provided gave them the inspiration to go about the job of building a new nation.

But many today do not perceive the importance of religion in every day life and as a result, fail to support the church. The burden is left to the faithful few, and often they are not strong enough to carry the load, so that churches are forced to close. The tragedy is that young people in some rural districts are growing up without benefit of the church's leadership.

Modern times bring new responsibilities, new problems, but none that cannot be solved by the grace of God. True worship in the true church brings guidance to modern sons and daughters just as it did to the devout pioneers. A people worshipping thus in Christian fellowship finds the wisdom and power that only God can give.

FICTION AND FACT (By R. J. Deachman)

Speaking on a national broadcast on April 2nd, Mr. M. J. Coldwell made this statement:

"Exploitation, under capitalism, takes many forms—all of them ugly. For example, a recent article in the Toronto Star Weekly described a successful invention of a new machine for the production of ramie fibre cheaply. The author stated that Egyptian mummies were dropped in white cloth woven of ramie which has lasted four thousand years, and then quoted a textile manufacturer who remarked with a smile:

"The trouble with ramie is that it's too good. We'll have to mix it with cotton so that at least every other thread will wear out."

"That, of course, illustrates completely private enterprise," said Mr. Coldwell, "production for profit instead of socially controlled and planned enterprise for use."

Consider for a moment the facts in regard to ramie on which Mr. Coldwell speaks so fluently. It reminds me of the razor blade the technocrats were going to make, it would last a lifetime, the Pogue Carburer that was to give us a hundred miles to the gallon of gas, the brick yard which was to be built, some place or other, probably at Estevan, to make bricks for the whole Dominion—do it with only a handful of men. These things come and go like ships in the night.

The new mirage of Socialism is ramie. It's a fibre plant known for the last four or five thousand years. It grows in semi-tropical countries, in Indo-China, the Philippines, and to some extent in South America. It has been tried in the United States with, I understand, indifferent results. It grows from three to eight feet high and produces about four tons of moist stems per acre. The problem is to remove the gum, which is an inherent part of the product. Today this work of stripping, removing the gum and drying is done largely by hand, the net product represents about 2 1/2% of the green plant. So far no machine has been invented which does the work effectively. There are other difficulties, the fibres are of varying lengths, this adds to the costs of spinning.

We should never despair. Some man, some day, may do it. Mr. Coldwell may have his finger on him now. When it comes industry will grab it if it provides a product of equal value at less cost. Industry is highly competitive. If one manufacturer didn't take it, another would. The only thing that might hold it up would be the protests of the wool growers in Canada or the cotton growers in the United States just as we shut out "oleo" because the farmers don't want it and farmers have votes.

Mr. Coldwell points out that it was used as winding sheets for Egyptian Kings. There's a reason. Kings who could afford to build pyramids in which their bodies might find a resting place, could afford to spend, not money, nor gold, nor goods but the lives of their slaves in making a durable cloth in which they could be put to rest. Slaves cost little, production of ramie involved a great deal of work. We have no slaves except the machines and there are times when tasks arise too difficult for the machines to perform. Ramie fabrics will come if this is economically possible but we must remember that the task of modern industry is not in providing luxuries for kings, important as that may be, but to furnish products for shop girls at prices within their capacity to buy.

"Exploitation, under capitalism" says Mr. Coldwell takes many forms—all of them ugly." I wonder what Mr. Coldwell means by that statement? Are all these modern conveniences by which we are surrounded exhibits of ugliness. Would Mr. Coldwell consider modern medical organization and even the Red Cross, both out-growths of capitalism, as only more ugliness. What strange things are uttered, when men speak politically.

There are moments when Mr. Coldwell annoys me. He makes excellent speeches. He has an attractive personality, a good radio voice. Why does he drop from Olympus to tell us a story about ramie? I wish he would leave trifles to lesser men, stick to the larger topics, strike out and reach for the stars.

VALUE THEIR WEEKLY PAPER (Strathroy Age-Dispatch)

Communities do realize the service rendered them by their weekly newspaper, although sometimes we have doubted it.

Not so long ago the owner of the weekly newspaper in Highgate, a little village of less than 400 people in Kent County, decided to retire, sell his business, and return to his native England. Printing machinery, like many other commodities, being scarce, the citizens of Highgate feared that the business might be sold and the equipment removed to a larger centre.

They decided that something had to be done about it and fast, to encourage a buyer to remain in the village. There were several hurried conferences with the result that the bank arranged to provide half the capital necessary to purchase the plant, provided it remained in Highgate.

New owners were found but there was no place for them to live. Then the local hotel-keeper came to their rescue. He offered free lodging and board to the new owner and his family for a period up to two years. So as a result of the community effort the newspaper remained in Highgate.

Yes now we believe communities appreciate the value of their own weekly newspaper.

The only way to get a big job is to prove that you are capable of holding a little one.

This Letter Tells Its Own Story

HOUSE OF COMMONS CANADA

OTTAWA, April 22nd, 1947.

Mr. O. Livingston,
"The Grimsby Independent",
GRIMSBY, Ontario.
Dear Mr. Livingston,

My good friend Norman Lockhart handed me a copy of the Grimsby Independent of April 10th, with some "Facts and Fancies" that included "Page Mr. Cruickshank." Needless to say I enjoyed very much the remarks concerning myself and also those about British Columbia apples.

Before going home for Easter, I sent to British Columbia a clipping of Mr. McPherson's remarks regarding our apples sent to me, to pass around among some of the notables of Parliament Hill, unfortunately, not at ten cents each. What a compliment to B. C. apples, to command the price of ten for a dollar, so far from home. Where is Donald Gordon?

As a result of eating these apples, the main topic at Ottawa was for days—no wonder Adam fell!

When I explained these were late ewtons, they said, "no wonder he conceived such a famous theory."

I know that you can and do grow excellent fruit in yr province and district. What I objected to and apparently with success was that horrible pink or red gauze. Being old-fashioned, not only do I like lips in their tural form but also any other peaches. Both taste better under their own color.

A couple of your growers sent me some splendid saxes of Ontario peaches, I hope that the habit continues this season and wish yr growers the very best of luck. We in B. C. believe as producers we should pull together for the very best interests of each other, plenty of other interests are t-r-g to pull us apart.

With kindest regards—without gauze.

Sincerely,

George Cruickank,
Member for Fr. Valley.

In 1886 a finely printed 24 page programme was issued by Grimsby Park, "The Chautauqua of Canada."

The central illustration shows a birds eye view of the grounds consisting of 100 acres with the pier and a side-wheeler pleasure steamer in the foreground, and tents on the open space west of the ravine bridge.

There is a picture of the Park Temple which had just been completed, a marvel of construction, grand and imposing. Here is the description of it:

"It will cover from 7000 to 8000 people, and measures one hundred feet from the ground to top of the dome. The dome alone is 112 feet in diameter, without brace or truss of any kind; the piazza surrounding the dome is 372 feet long, 15 feet wide, supported by strong brackets; one hundred and eighty thousand feet of lumber, 3 1/2 tons of nails were used in its construction. The city of Toronto can be seen from the top of the dome quite distinctly—36 miles distant."

Carriages and horses would be admitted to the horse yard free of charge, ample stable accommodation at moderate rates. Season tickets, $1.50. To parties living on the grounds, $1.00. Single admission tickets and passes varied from 10 cents to 25 cents.

Chairs, bedding, cots, etc., could be rented on the grounds by applying to C. C. Homan, office adjoining the store.

enlistment in the early days of the war.

Early in 1940, Mrs. Taylor entered into an agreement with the Niagara Packers Limited, giving them complete charge of the farm and nursery business which arrangement has carried on until the present time.

The purchaser of the property, Mr. Charles McConaghy of Beamsville, intends to keep the main part of the farm himself, but will resell certain portions to other parties who were anxious to secure parts of the farm.

The building will be of the same type of yellow rug brick and the present large windows will be retained in the new addition. The hot water heating system will be modernized and a new oil burner installed.

The lay-out of the banking room will be changed and new fixtures of the most modern type will be installed. When this job is completed the building will be one of the finest and most modern of any small bank building in the province.

One of the stipulations made by the bank, with the contractor, is that all local labor and various trade firms, as far as possible, be used on the job.

BIG OREGON PEACH

other. In my case they loaned both hands.

"When my need became known, the entire personnel of the State House came out, picked until dark the first day and were back at dawn the next. Typically, many of them thanked me for the 'swell picnic.' That, after they had saved my crop. Who wouldn't win with such backing?"

Since then the all-time high for a single crop has moved up to 2,000 tons. When this occurred, in spite of the 70 stores and four roadside stands that were the outlet for the fresh fruit, there were not enough peach belts in the combined, accessible canneries to handle the output of the orchard. That's when she decided that LaFollette peaches needed a cannery of their own; 1947 will see it in operation.

So far, this cannery is one of the biggest projects that has materialized under her management but she has many ideas for further development of the orchard and for marketing the fruit. With the latter, there will be gift packaging, not only of the canned peaches, but of the fresh fruit as well. Her plans, she knows, are sound and it is only a matter of time until she will have them in operation.

"But I had so much to learn about orcharding in those first years," she explains. "Everything, in fact, from the difference between a Hale and an Elberta peach, through cultivation, up to management. And I've discovered that a good farmer has to be a combination of everything... banker, lawyer, merchant, mechanic, salesman. There is hardly a profession that does not in some way touch on the operation of a farm."

Knowing this, she is making a special effort to rear her boys to the increasing responsibilities which the enlarged projects will entail. But so far their interest lies in everything about the farm but the orchard! Alexander, now 10, and Byron, 8, know every beaver, bird nest, and by-path in the 2,500 acres of the bottom land, for they roam it daily on foot or on their ponies. However, they do have a keen interest in the historical background of the property and Mrs. LaFollette takes great delight in relating the story to them.

It is an interesting story indeed, for the site of the LaFollette orchard is also the site of the first Protestant mission in the Oregon country, the one established by Jason Lee in 1834. Here, too, Lee also founded Willamette University, oldest institution of higher learning west of the Mississippi River. And while this school was later moved to Salem, capital of the state, the LaFollette heirs in 1935 deeded the six acres of that site to the University and they hope that some day it will be developed as a recreation center for the students.

It was a change in the course of the Willamette River following a flood that made the land suitable for cultivation, and Alexander M. LaFollette, great-grandfather of the present owners, planted peach trees in this rich bottom land. His action brought clucks of disbelief from his near neighbors, and a veritable stream of horses and buggy wheel-enders from Portland—some 50 miles distant—all of whom wanted to see "real peaches a-growin'."

But "old Alexander" as the family still fondly call him, knew what he was about certainly, for some of his original planting still stands—and bears fruit. It is a phenomenon that is being checked yearly by the State College, for the usual life of a peach tree is only 16 years.

Following "Old Alexander's" good judgment in many things, the family has also faithfully carried on his tradition that "the LaFollette peach is tree-ripened," which adds another burden to the marketing of this fragile fruit. "But that makes it so much more challenging," says Mrs. LaFollette. And she says it with such charming determination that one wonders whether perhaps someday she will not only have world markets, but will deliver to them in LaFollette-owned planes.

IMMACULATE FRUIT

pointed out the abuse of instruments of cultivation, showing the relationship between cultivation and organic matter content of the soil. Cultivation, it was stated, speeds up the decomposition of organic matter, and liberation of plant food. This speeding up, while desirable for some conditions and certain crops, becomes unnecessary and therefore wasteful under other conditions. A system of clean cultivation, therefore, necessitates constant liberal replacement of organic matter as the soil becomes much more rapidly depleted.

Regarding orchard practice, Mr. Van Haerlem expressed the opinion that in most cases cultivation should be discontinued before July. Two months of constant cultivation was too long, as well as unnecessary, he stated, adding that in an experiment with a block of apples at the Experimental station, splendid results had been obtained over a period of years, from an orchard receiving only two cultivations annually. "If two cultivations are sufficient," he asked, "why do more?"

Misuse of the grape hoe by many growers was also mentioned by the speaker, who charged that it was frequently used as a plough, causing great injury to the root system. The grape hoe, he stated, should merely skim the surface to remove weeds. If left from July to Fall, he continued, many grape roots will work to the surface where they will thrive on better moisture and air conditions and increase amounts of nitrogen. In many instances these roots are ruthlessly cut by improper use of the hoe, with a resulting loss in production.

Other shallow rooted plants also suffering through cultivation, as pointed out by the speaker, included strawberries, raspberries, currants and gooseberries. Experiments have shown that a permanent system of mulching for raspberries as well as currants and gooseberries is far superior to methods of clean cultivation. Recent experiments at the station seem to indicate that mulching may prove to be the answer to the problem of scalding in gooseberries.

In the bulletin on Orchard soil management by E. P. Palmer and J. R. Haerlem of the Experiment station staff, it is stated that a system of clean cultivation, which does not include maintenance of organic matter, is as much a system of neglect as a sod system which neglects mulching, manuring and rodent control. Both systems were horticulturally unsound, clean cultivation being only rational if incorporating cover and green manure crops, manure and other sources of organic matter.

Purposes of cultivation, as outlined in the bulletin, include removal of noxious weeds, prevention of weed competition for food, vegetative period, incorporation of manure and cover crops, preparation of seed beds, and control of certain insect pests and rodents. Contrary to popular belief, it is stated that "cultivation conserves moisture only in so far as it removes competing weeds or cover crops."

Because of this loss of both moisture and organic matter, growers were advised to aim at the minimum amount of cultivation which would serve their purpose. Young non-bearing trees, it is stated, benefit from a longer period of tillage than is required by older established orchards.

The use of the plough, so long considered one of the most essential farm practices, is now being rapidly displaced by the use of shallower implements of cultivation according to station authorities who suggest that the plough may have harmful effects on both the soil and the trees. The real virtue of cultivation, it is stated, lies in the shallower cultivation which will accomplish the desired result. If soil type and the amount and nature of material to be incorporated in the soil permit of disking, a disk should certainly be used. Later cultivations should be done with shallower implements, if possible.

"Most Niagara Peninsula orchards," the bulletin states, "could be handled without ever using a plough and would probably be the better for it."

Sod culture, which should be distinguished from sod neglect, is now being highly recommended for apples, according to Experiment station authorities. Although growth of the trees and yield may lag somewhat during the early years under sod conditions, experiments have proved that within 10 or 15 years sod orchards will surpass those under cultivation. Size and colour of apples under sod mulch have been found to be superior.

erior, date of maturity earlier, drops suffering less injury from bruising, soil fertility superior and orchard operations, such as spraying, pruning and harvesting facilitated due to the firmer footing.

The difference between present methods of sod culture and the negligent methods which years ago were succeeded by intense cultivation, lies in 'the use of mulch, as an essential part of the system. The sod material, grass or alfalfa, is cut as often as necessary, and the cut material left lying where it falls, or concentrated as mulch under the trees. Nothing is removed from the orchard. Additional material, it is stated, manure, straw or old hay, should be drawn in to supplement this mulch and build it up sufficiently to smother growth of the sod immediately under the trees. Investigators have estimated the annual cost of maintaining the mulch system at $4.50 per acre, including expense of mowing, raking and spreading the grass. In comparison the estimated cost of cultivation and cover crops, amounts to $10.00 per acre.

Although opinions differ regarding the time of starting sod in young orchards, experience with a four and a half acre block of McIntosh apples at the station has shown that with necessary attention to mulching and fertility, sod may be started at the time the orchard is planted, or within a year or two. Many growers, however, prefer to cultivate and intercrop for a number of years before seeding down.

Pears, too, it has been found may be successfully grown by the permanent sod-culture method, although with the possible exception of sweet cherries, it is not at present recommended for the stone fruits. Evidence, however, is piling up which indicates that certain conservation practices including continuous vegetative and mulch covers modified sod, or simply a short annual period of cultivation are both practical and successful in most orchards regardless of variety.

When it comes to the tree of knowledge, there is nothing like a radio quiz to snatch a person out on a limb.

During World War II woman and her five-year-old son were being evacuated from a foreign country. The mother burst into tears on having to leave her husband and the little man beside her put in his word of consolation: "Do not cry, mother, I will get you another daddy."

NOPELESS

A Toronto mother was trying to arouse a little enthusiasm for study in her 12-year-old daughter.

"I was sitting at home today where there have a little girl just your age. Her mother told me she got 100 in arithmetic and 95 in grammar..." said the mother.

"Yes, and she'll probably grow up to be the kind of girl who doesn't get married!" interrupted the daughter.

GERMAN BEAUTY SHOPS

A log of firewood, a cake of soap and a towel make up the standard equipment of the German woman heading for the beauty parlor in Germany today. The monthly trip most fraus and frauens make to the "Friseur" there is not the casual, quick session the Canadian woman has with her hairdresser. It is a major operation.

The firewood (a bag of coal briquettes is even better) is used by the hairdresser to heat the shampoo and rinse water, as well as to melt the soap. Soap and towel must be furnished by the customer. It has been estimated that eight out of 10 German women of all economic levels today patronize beauty shops, not so much through vanity but as a health measure.

Permanents? Many farm women still wear the traditional Gretchen braid around their heads and many frauleins with American G.I. beaux have adopted something close to Veronica's one-eyed loose-hanging glamour hair-do, but just the same these women pay as much as 12 to 20 marks ($3.00 to $6) for permanents. Considering that this would buy them from 30 to 50 loaves of precious bread at 40 pfennigs (12 cents) a loaf (if bread were not rationed), it seems obvious that frizzy hair is considered beautiful.

HOW TO COOK A HUSBAND

A good many husbands are spoiled by mismanagement. Some women keep them constantly in hot water; others let them freeze by their carelessness and indifference. Some keep them in a stew by irritating ways and words; others roast them. Some keep them in a pickle all their lives. It cannot be supposed that any husband will be tender and good, managed in this way, but they are really delicious when properly treated. In selecting your husband, you should not be guided by the silvery appearance, as in the buying of a mackerel, nor by the golden tint, as if you wanted salmon: be sure you select him yourself, as tastes differ.

It is far better to have none unless you will patiently learn how to cook him. A preserving kettle of first porcelain is best. See that the linen in which you wrap him is nicely washed and mended, with the required number of buttons sewn on. Tie him in the kettle by a strong cord called comfort, as the one called duty is apt to be weak and he is apt to fly out of the kettle and be burned and crusty on the edges, since like crabs and lobsters, you have to cook them alive. Make a clear steady fire, out of love, meanness, and cheerfulness. Set him as near this as seems to agree with him. If he sputters and fizzes do not be anxious. Some husbands do this until they are quite done. Add a little sugar in the form of what confectioners call kisses, but no vinegar nor pepper. A little spice improves them, but it must be used with judgment. Do not stick any sharp instrument into him to see if he is becoming tender. Stir him gently; watch the while, less he lie too flat and too close to the kettle, and so become useless. You cannot fail to know when he is done.

If thus treated, you will find him very digestible, and he will keep as long as you want, unless you become careless and set him in too cold a place.

ly and chill. Divide batter in 2 parts; roll the first half into a rectangle about 1-8 inch thick; lay on greased cake pan. Sprinkle with the dry crumbs and spread the rhubarb on. Roll out second half of dough and place on top of fruit. Pinch edges together and prick top with a fork. Brush with the milk and bake in an electric oven at 425 degs. for 15 mins., then reduce heat to 350 degs. and bake 25 mins. Cut in squares and serve slightly warm.

CANNED RHUBARB

Select young tender stalks. Wash and trim, but do not remove skin. Cut into 1/2 to 3/4 inch lengths.

Method 1—Pack rhubarb in sterile jars. Force cold water into every corner; seal with hot ring and tops. Wrap jars in newspaper and store in cool place.

Method 2—Add enough water to rhubarb in large kettle to prevent burning—about 1 cup. Cook until soft using Low heat as soon as it begins to steam. Add sugar to taste (about 1 cup sugar to 1 quart raw fruit). Fill sterilized jars. Seal tightly. An added precaution is to process jars 8 mins. in electric oven preheated to 275 degrees.

RUBARB-ONION RELISH

2 quarts rhubarb, 2 quarts cooking onions, 6 cups vinegar, 4 cups brown sugar, 4 cups dark corn syrup 2 tps. cinnamon, 2 tps. allspice, 2 tps. salt, 2 tps. pepper, 2 tps. cloves.

Wash rhubarb and cut into small pieces and measure. Chop onions slowly until thick. Add nuts and measure. Put all ingredients into large preserving kettle, bring to boil stirring occasionally. Boil 1 1/2 hours. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. Makes 2 quarts and 1 pint.

Hello, Homemakers! There is a limit to the amount of fresh rhubarb you can use in pies and puddings. Yet if there is rhubarb growing in your garden you will not want any of it to go to waste. And no matter how surfeited your meals have been with rhubarb dishes recently there will be times next fall when you will welcome a rhubarb Betty or rhubarb Jam with a piece of toast. We consider rhubarb easy to grow in our garden—if you buy it, it is cheap. It is also easy to put some "dow" in jars without sugar to be enjoyed next winter. Meanwhile use your sugar wisely in the recipes given below.

RUBARB UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

2 cups rhubarb, diced, 2 tps. grated orange rind, 2 tps. melted butter, 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup shortening, 1/2 tsp. vanilla, 2 eggs, well-beaten, 1 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour, 1/2 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 cup milk.

Combine rhubarb, orange rind, butter and 1/2 cup white sugar by spread on bottom of greased 8 inch pan. Cream the shortening, add vanilla and remaining well-sugar—blend well and stir in beaten eggs. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Pour on top of rhubarb mixture. Bake in a preheated oven at 350 degs. for 45 mins. stand in pan 5 mins. then serve. Serve warm with orange sauce. Serves 6 to 8.

RUBARB PASTES

2 cups finely cut rhubarb, 1 cup white sugar, 1/2 tsp. flour, 2 1/2 tps. cornstarch, 2 cups 1/2 tps. brown sugar, 1/2 tsp. sour cream, 1 egg, 1/2 tps. cream, 1/2 cup dry crumbs, rich milk.

Prepare rhubarb and mix with white sugar, cinnamon and starch. Sift flour, brown sugar, salt; cut in shortening until mixture is like coarse oatmeal. Beat egg and mix with sour cream, then pour into flour mixture. Mix lighting a fair chance to develop their natural talents and live happy, normal lives. 250,191 represents the number of Japanese, Chinese, Negro and Jewish people in Canada today, to whom we, you and I, are not giving a fair chance for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT

Have you ever seen a jeep sifting over a rough road at about 40 miles per hour without even a hint of hesitation or plowing through the worst storm of the winter when all other vehicles are stalled and useless? Sure you have. We all have, and we all know that the reason a jeep has this extra ability is because of its powerful four wheel drive. But that four wheel drive depends upon something else, a small but powerful four cylinder motor purring away beneath that polished hood. Canada is like that jeep. Her powerful drive, too, depends upon four cylinders working smoothly together. The Governor General, the central Government at Ottawa, the Provinces and the people. Racial intolerance is just so much sand thrown into the last mentioned cylinder which cripples, causing poor performance from the whole machine.

The usual arguments put forward on this subject are of a social nature and concern the injustices perpetrated upon the people of these races simply because of their racial origin. But, I have a different viewpoint to put before you. What injustices are we doing ourselves by not allowing these people to develop naturally? What are we missing by subjecting these people to racial intolerance?

The first loss shows itself in actual dollars and cents. Many merchants follow a policy of strict exclusion toward all coloured races, but mainly Japanese and Negroes. By following this policy they are catering to a small group of whites who refuse to associate with coloured people and are gaining their patronage. But they are losing the patronage of twice as many people, made up of the Negroes they exclude and of the whites who object to their discriminating policies. In actual dollars and cents these men are losing out.

In the field of culture, the quality and versatility of Negro entertainers has been shown by the few who have risen to the top in spite of difficulty. But there are only a few. How much more talent like that of Portia White or Paul Robeson lies hidden among the Negro races simply because certain narrow-minded whites refuse to look for it and develop it? No one knows or has any idea.

The realm of science is one in which only those with the highest educational standard can make their mark. George Washington Carver did it, but only with the greatest difficulty. Here was a Negro who literally made his way to the top. But why? Why can't we provide the necessary grounding for everyone to develop his or her natural talents? Albert Einstein is a German Jew who is the world's greatest mathematician, as far as we know. But, perhaps, there is another Einstein hidden among these races. What are we doing to find them?

In the world of crime we rarely find a Negro who is in the position that Dillinger or Capone once held. Rarely is one of these people at the head of a criminal organization set up entirely for his own gain. No, their crime is a different type, the crime of passion, the brutal murder and robbery. Now there must be a reason for this. Let us consider a hypothetical case. Suppose we have a young, husky Negro who is down to his last dollar and in search of a job. At place after place he is turned down, not because of lack of ability, but because of the colour of his skin. At last, tired and discouraged, he takes refuge in a saloon where he money on whiskey. He gets good and drunk. At last he is again on the street, but he has no money and he must have food and shelter. His drunken mind leads him to what seems to be the last alternative, robbery, brutal sluggings and possible murder. In no time he lands in jail and society has another problem on her hands. Many of the men here tonight are employers. Have you lately turned down a Jew or a Negro, or a Chinese, or a Japanese, because of the colour of his skin? If you have think of what skin? If you have, think of what this problem.

I have shown you several ways in which we are losing through racial intolerance. Now let me suggest a solution to the problem. The answer lies in Education, but it must be two edged education. We must first of all interest these people in being educated by providing the necessary opportunity. But in order to do this we must first of all educate ourselves to realize that a divided people is a weak people. We must learn to work with these people and not against them. All they need and want is an opportunity, but they won't get it while their children are forced into separate schools to be taught by teachers of only their own nationality, or while their young people are excluded from our universities either by direct rule or by indirect prejudice. We must abolish such prejudice or believe me, the cost will be great.

Germany is a country that knows just how great that cost can be. After Hitler's rise to power only those of Aryan blood were allowed to advance and improve themselves. All others were trampled down and left behind. In these persecutions Hitler lost some of the best of his doctors, scientists, lawyers, preachers, artists and musicians with the inevitable result that when war came to Germany she was years behind in these fields. What followed is history. A series of experiments were carried out upon living humans at Dakow and other concentration camps in an attempt to cram years of advancement into a few hectic months. The art stores and museums of Europe were robbed in an attempt to advance Germany's cultural side through thievery. But these efforts failed and Germany fell because her people were divided. What happened in Germany could happen here. What are we doing about it?

If one cylinder of a motor fails the whole machine fails. Similarly if the Governor-General or the provinces or the People fail, then Canada fails. At this time more than at any other time in history we cannot afford failure. Our very existence depends on a smoothly working country, which we can't have if racial intolerance is present.

So we have before us a number, 250,191. 250,191 injustices which must be righted before we have the right to call ourselves a nation.

MOUNTAIN FARMERS

this continuous wet weather is injurious to the hay fields. Down at Niagara Falls, according to news despatches, fruit growers there claim that Sunday, May 11th, will be Blossom Sunday. If that prognostication proves correct then there is going to be a powerful lot of hot weather in this district in the next 10 days.

A PROGRESSIVE

markably clean; the air inside is kept clean and cool through the air conditioning system, fluorescent lighting provides illumination of the finest kind; each machine is additionally lighted by seven volt, heatless lamps providing a focused light on the sewing; even the stools, on which the sewers (girls) sit, are cushioned with a three inch layer of foam of rubber. Everything possible is provided for the comfort of the employee. (See Cut).

In this Fitting Room, the assembly of the boot takes place. A stamping machine stamps on size and trademark. Two skiving machines bevel the seam edges of the leather parts of the boot. A closing machine stitches the strong, flat seams. Many sewing machines (chain stitch, lock stitch, tongue machine) both with bobbins and the newer bobbinless type, line the three long tables. Two eyelet machines insert all the eyelets into the boot almost automatically. All of these different machines (19 active) are run by swift, skilled operators who are mostly girls.

The finished products—the leather upper of the logger's or prospector's boot, or the two patented articles which were developed by the Gadsby's—the fleece-lined leather highjack both zippered and with a plain front—are turned out with the flawless perfection of high-class craftsmanship—at the rate of 39,000 pairs a year. The last-mentioned boots have two Gadsby-patented features—the crimped tongue and the seamless leather top. The crimp tongue process is especially interesting. The tongue is soaked in a special secret chemical solution, at a certain temperature, for one-half an hour. They are then placed in machines, which hold the leather tongue in its crimped shape, and dried for 24 hours. The tongue when inserted in the boot and in a laced-up position, lies flat and so provides greater comfort for the wearer.

The boots are packed in individual boxes and shipped in large containers to the buyer. The buyers are rubber companies, wholesalers and retailers. The boots are shipped as far as the goldfields of the Klondike in the north west, and to the loggers of New Brunswick in the east. In other words, orders are received from coast to coast. In fact, orders are received from all over the world. Mr. Gadsby likes to tell of the order from Ceylon, an island off the southern tip of India. It seems that a prospective Ceylonese customer had seen a pair of the Gadsby boots and written for some like them. How he ever expected to receive them, and to what use he would put a pair of heavy, fleece-lined highjacks in the tropical jungles of Ceylon, is still a mystery to Mr. Gadsby. Nevertheless, the fact still remains that Gadsby footwear is receiving worldwide acclaim.

Sticking to his theory that a boot made from the best leather, and with painstaking care, will sell, Mr. Gadsby has developed a fast growing business. Orders are being turned down, as the leather shortage hampers a production, that, if it was supplied with the raw materials, would leap ahead even more rapidly. Nevertheless, eleven local people work at the factory and this we feel, is a worthy contribution to the economy of the community. The working conditions are better than excellent, and the staff works from seven till five, five days a week.

Definite plans in the form of architectural drawings have been made for expansion in the future and the 4000 square feet now in use is being added to year by year. Shafer Bros. are adding 1000 new square feet of area to the present buildings even as you read this.

The growth of E. J. Gadsby and Sons has been rapid—the factory extended six times in the last ten years. It will continue to grow. Fine craftsmanship, fine business principles, provide a basis for a brilliant future. It all started in England over one hundred years ago—since then the name of "Gadsby, leather craftsmen", has been well-preserved. Grimsby should be proud of one of its finest industries.

There are more way of being a public enemy than pointing a gun or running amok with an automobile, according to health authorities. The Department of National Health and Welfare brands as a menace to society the person who fails to ensure his or her own isolation when suffering from a contagious ailment, or who is careless about seeking treatment and advice leading to a cure for the ailment.

In Memoriam

SCHWAB—In dearest remembrance of a loving wife and mother, Nella Jane Wilson, who passed away May 2nd, 1942.

Time goes on with many changes, joys and sorrows, smiles and tears. But her memory grows much sweeter.

With the passing of the years, Always remembered by husband, Fred, Clifford, Myrtle.

Legion Auxiliary

The Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Legion, No. 127, will hold their May meeting in the Legion Home on Monday evening, May 12th, at 8 o'clock sharp. The Zone Commander will be with us for her farewell visit before leaving for England, as well as Provincial Commander. Plans must be made for May 24th. Everyone interested in this work please be on hand.

ORDAINED IN JUNE

Robert Watt, son of Rev. W. J. Watt, minister of Trinity United Church, Grimsby, and Mrs. Watt, will be ordained as a minister of the United Church in June of this year at the same time his father retires from active work after many years in the ministry.

Another son, George Watt, and his wife, left recently to take charge of a mission station in Western Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Watt attended the graduation of their son Robert, at Toronto University last Tuesday night.

RECENT GUESTS AT GREEN TREES

Mrs. and Miss Turner, Philadelphia; Dr. and Mrs. T. Beath, Richmond, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Woodbury and Miss Eleanor Loud, South Weymouth, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Van Duzen, St. Agathe, Que. Mr. Van Duzen is the famous artist who painted the murals in the Parliament Buildings, Quebec, and Seignior Club. He paints under the name of Edwards, and was on his way to a showing of his pictures in Chicago.

DIET FADS

The fad of "slimming" isn't as prevalent as it was a generation ago, but Canadian doctors claim too many people still think themselves qualified to decide what they should not eat. Such people are actually endangering their health, by dieting, say the experts. This, of course, does not apply to the person following a doctor's instructions as to diet.

Normal people need only normal meals, say the experts, and, unless the physician has given instructions to the contrary, Canadians should eat all the wholesome foods.

See that little black rabbit? Well, he just came out of that big bass horn, aided and abetted by two of the charming young ladies who are members of the "Starlettes", famous all girl dance orchestra, that will feature the Blossom Time dance being held in the Auditorium of the Grimsby High school on the evening of May 9th. The "Starlettes" not only provide liting dance music but also give forth with vocal and instrumental music and a little Black Magic on the side. During the evening a Blossom Queen will be chosen and her coronation will take place right then and there.

FERGUSON—MAXWELL

Only the immediate families attended the marriage in St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church, Leaside, on Saturday, April 12th, of Alberta Evelyn Maxwell, younger daughter of Mrs. Herbert Maxwell and the late Mr. Maxwell of Toronto, to Douglas Coulson Ferguson, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Ferguson, of Uxbridge. Easter lilies, snapdragon and lighted tapers decorated the altar. The ceremony was performed by the Rector, Rev. Canon P. Morland Lamb, life-long friend of the bride's family. Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Newton Maxwell the bride wore a smart hyacinth blue afternoon dress with corsage of red roses and black accessories. Mrs. Lough, groomed in gold with brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses was matron of honour for her sister. Mr. James Ferguson was groomsmen for his brother.

The wedding dinner was held at Wymilwood. The bride's mother wore pale gray with bodice of purple and orchid and corsage of red carnations. On their return from a motor trip the couple will live on the Queenway, Toronto.

Both are graduates of the University of Toronto and The College of Education.

The groom, Douglas Coulson Ferguson, is a nephew of Mrs. John Vooges, Fairview avenue, Grimsby.

I.O.D.E.

The monthly business meeting of Lincoln Loyalist Chapter, I.O. D.E., was held in the Chapter Room, Village Inn, on Monday afternoon, April 28th, with the Regent, Mrs. E. A. Buckenham, presiding.

The results of the drive for clothing for Britain were very gratifying and over 700 articles of clothing and bedding were forwarded.

At this meeting the I.O.D.E. members held a shower of gifts, food, etc., to be forwarded to the food victims of Britain and the response will result in a very nice box being shipped.

Mrs. G. F. Mitchell was elected as post-war convener. Mrs. E. A. Buckenham, regent, was elected as delegate to the National I.O.D.E. Convention being held in Toronto, May 22nd to May 26th.

The Chapter listened with keen interest to a concise and constructive report by the regent on the recent Provincial Annual Meeting in Hamilton.

As a method of raising money for the Chapter, groups were formed, comprised of ten members each and the following ladies were selected to call the various groups together. Mrs. T. R. Hunter, Mrs. Wm. Greig, Mrs. Fred Jewson, Mrs. A. W. Mason, Mrs. A. Stevenson, Mrs. Ray McPherson, Mrs. W. H. Morris, Mrs. D. Cloughley and Mrs. E. Webster.

MUSIC FESTIVAL WILL BE A BIG AFFAIR

A great array of talented contestants who have been working hard for several weeks to perfect their performances, for this district's greatest Spring Musical Festival, will present their work for the public's pleasure and compete for Scholarships to the value of $550.00 during the eight days, April 28th to May 7th, in Westminster Church, St. Catharines.

Competition will be keen and spirited. Contestants will strive for top honors in a fine spirit as exemplified by our motto "They do not beat each other but pace each other towards perfection."

Contestants from every local town, village and township as well as St. Catharines, nearby and distant cities such as Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Welland, Toronto, also Niagara Falls, N.Y., will compete and pour out their personality for the public's pleasure and enjoyment.

Don't miss this musical treat.

ENGLISH NURSES VISIT WITH GRIMSBY FRIEND

Sisters Burrows and Harper of the Dudley Road Hospital, Birmingham, England, where Mrs. Fred Jewson graduated, were guests at the latter's home on Sunday last. These nurses are on a travel scholarship from England and attended the Registered Nurses Session in Hamilton, last week, being the guests of Miss Ewart, Superintendent of the Hamilton Sanatorium. They leave Thursday morning for Atlantic City to attend the International Nurses Conference.

Having visited hospitals in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines and had the great pleasure of being shown over our own West Lincoln Memorial hospital by Miss Lewis, Assistant Superintendent, both were very much impressed and loud in their praise in what they described as a splendid, well equipped cottage hospital in Grimsby.

At The Inn

Among those present at Peggy O'Neil's Supper Club Dance at the Village Inn last Saturday night were the bridal party of the Garden-Wilson wedding.

Also celebrating the occasion of their wedding anniversary were Dr. H. C. Robertson and party, from Hamilton; and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bailey, Winona, celebrating Mrs. Bailey's birthday.

Other guests were present from Toronto, Hamilton, Oakville, Burlington and Niagara Falls, N.Y.

By RICHES and BRYDON
As we did last week in presenting the work of two potential G.H.S. news columnists, so we are doing this week. Last week's budding duo, whom you will remember wrote the student profile, were Don Mogg and Don Catton. This week there are not two, but three. This week's Student Profile, Joke of the Week, and Song of the Week, and the Lever Bros. lecture, are the work of these three. Let us know how bad you think it is...
THE STUDENT PROFILE
Sea green eyes and straw coloured hair.
Make our victim this week a girl most fair.
Her name, Marion Gloria Jarvis. Vital statistics: age—sixteen years; height—5'5"; weight—quote "well, really I haven't been weighed in such a long time."
Though her answers were a little vague, we managed to extract the following opinions.
Her favourite colour blue, predominates in her choice of tailored clothes, and in her favourite song "Rhapsody in Blue." Her ideal man is the tall, dark, brown-eyed, out-of-doors type, well-mannered, but definitely not too intellectual.
Gloria's pet hate is school on which she offered the following suggestion: School should not be based around trying exams, G.H.S. needs a new gym and there should not be a girl cadet corps. Her pet likes are history, singing, dancing, Alan Ladd and food. Her dream-dinner consists of roast chicken, mashed potatoes, cream corn and apple pie a la mode.
At the end of this year Gloria hopes to leave our dear old alma mater and, after a year's training, become a Mothercraft nurse. We are sure the school will join us in wishing her "the best of luck" in this worthy profession.
(Ed. Note: In case the reader is wondering, Gloria is in Grade XI, and was picked at random from a list of students of the third form).
PLATTER PATTEN
"Mam'selle" and "It's the Same Old Dream"—Record of the Week.
The beautiful background music of the French Cafe Scene from the Razzor's Edge has finally had lyrics set to it.
"Mam'selle" is an appealing and romantic ballad and is a great favourite with radio singers lately.
The best disc we think, is done by the Pied Pipers on Capitol. They harmonize beautifully on it and it is one of their best discs waxed yet. This ballad is heading for the Hit Parade as is the flip-over—"It's the Same Old Dream." This beautiful and dreamy song is from the great picture "It Happened in Brooklyn" starring Frank Sinatra.
It is hard to choose between these sides, as you will say when you hear them both, but you can't do much better than this record when it is available.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD
At the business meeting of the Ladies' Guild of St. Andrew's Church, the secretary, Mrs. Victor Thompson, assured that $400 had been spent by the Guild in completely redecorating and repairing the Parish Hall.
Certain allotments of money were made to the conveners to purchase materials for the making of articles for the annual bazaar next fall.
Plans were made to hold a roast beef dinner in the Parish Hall on Thursday, May 1, this dinner to take the place of the annual dinner postponed last fall. A musical program was also arranged.

HOME NURSING
The home nursing classes will soon be drawing to a close, then there will be the graduating exercises and Grimsby will have a Red Cross reserve of fifteen women equipped to do volunteer home nursing.
OVERSEAS CLOTHING
Children's clothing is being cut out and given out to be sewn. All the wool for socks is out, but we still have wool for a few size 8 year sweaters. Anyone willing to take enough for one sweater please phone Mrs. Dymond at 102.

JOKE OF THE WEEK
Mother: "Sonny, don't use such bad words."
Son: "Shakespeare used them."
Mother: "Well, don't play with high then."
And then there was Joe talking to Moe.
"Going to be tough sledding today."
"How come?"
"No snow."

LEVER BROTHERS LECTURE
The girls of the school were treated to an interesting and helpful lecture on Friday afternoon by Lever Brothers' capable representative, Miss Jean Warren. Miss Warren had with her many samples of new materials, some of which have not been seen on the market as yet. The girls found that they could look forward to wearing coal, salt, water, nitrogen, hydrogen, oxygen, petroleum, etc., in the near future. It was with amazement that we viewed the beautifully soft fabric made from such scientific substances.
Our heartfelt thanks go to Miss Warren for one of the most interesting lectures to date.

SPORTS DEPT.
Baseball—Opening Game
G.H.S. Undergraduates Defeat Old Boys 39 to 11
Grimsby's old men of baseball were crushed into the dust of the diamond yesterday as the youngsters of Grimsby High took advantage of profuse fumbling and many errors to grind over them in five and one half innings of murderous softball.
Score by innings was as follows:
End of First—Undergrads 6, Old Boys 3; Second—U. G. 15, O. B. 6; Third—U. G. 23, O. B. 9; Fourth—U. G. 35, O. B. 9; Fifth—U. G. 39, O. B. 10; First of Sixth—U. G. 39, O. B. 11.
Fisher's Fighting Fools (Old Boys) bolstered their team with several upper school students, but the effort was useless. The tight young undergraduate team, sparked by Happy Rock Mogg came through with a brilliant performance. Doucett's pitching was superb. Scrivener at shortstop was excellent. Ruse on first was unbeatable. Mogg was—but I'm out of adjectives.
So with a flip of our well-manicured hand we toss to the winners an orchid and to the losers a bundle of raw spinach.
Lineups:
Old Boys: I. Marr, c; Bedford, p; Fisher, 1b; Awde (Jewson), 2b; Martin, ss; Cole, 3b; G. Marr, rf; D. Richea, cf; J. Merkle, lf.
Undergrads: Metcalfe (A. MacPherson), c; Doucett, p; Ruse, 1b; Alton, 2b; Scrivener, ss; Catton, 3b; Mogg, rf; H. McPherson, cf; Moberly, lf.

TO ANDY CLARKE
Far from the city's ceaseless rush, the jostling crowds with unknown faces, far away to the evening hush and the friendly folk of the little places, folks who dwell near mother earth in quiet ways, with time to live and compensate their neighbors' worth in giving all as others give, each Sabbath morn ere church bells ring a visitor their circle graces; his bulky batch of news to bring of those who dwell in little places. "Good morning, friends," 'tis Andy's voice, and all the land his news embraces with silent tribute to their choice, "THE MAYOR OF THE LITTLE PLACES."
George A. Wright, in "Home Forum" in The Globe and Mail.

Obituary
MRS. MARGARET B. BATER
Mrs. Margaret Bell Bater, wife of George B. Bater, died at West Lincoln Memorial Hospital on Sunday, in her 63rd year.
Deceased was a native of North Grimsby Township and a lifelong resident of the Thirty district where she was highly respected.
Her husband and a sister, Mrs. Jessie McCrea, of St. Catharines, survive.
Funeral was held from the J. W. Buck Funeral Parlour, Beamsville, on Tuesday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, to Queen's Lawn Cemetery, Grimsby.

MRS. LAURA VAN DYKE
A life-long resident of the district, Mrs. Laura Van Dyke, wife of the late Wellington B. Van Dyke, died Thursday last at the Wiebe Nursing Home, Campden, after a lingering illness.
Born in North Grimsby township in November, 1862, a daughter of the late Andrew and Susan Beamer, she was in her 85th year.
She had been a member of the United Church since Church Union.
Surviving are two sons, Roy, of Beamsville and Clyde, of St. Catharines, also two brothers, Murray Beamer, of North Grimsby, and Harry Beamer of Machias Junction, N.Y.
Funeral services were held from the Stonehouse Funeral Home on Saturday afternoon, Rev. W. J. Watt officiating. Interment was in the family plot in Queen's Lawn cemetery.
Casket bearers were Bruce Van Dyke, R. K. VanDyke (Hamilton), Harry Wilson, Robert Beamer, Donald Beamer, Gordon Speers.

FIGURES TELL CHAMPIONSHIP TALE

the first, twelve to six. It was a walk. Then on Thorold ice we were beaten six to three. Guess we were walking in this game. In the third contest we beat them four to two, one more and the Group Championship was ours. The fourth game had its moments. We built up an early lead, then with Warner serving a penalty, Thorold scored three goals in thirty-four seconds to tie up the score. However, the three lines of the Kings proved too much for the two efficient lines of the Legionaires and we came home with the Championship.

In winning the group championship, the experience of the older players on the team began to pay off, and it was these guys who came through when the pressure was on. Zuke, Mattison and Hill were tops in this Thorold series. The individual scoring race had not changed to any great extent and now appeared:

	Games	G	A	Pts.	P
Zuke	18	17	22	39	2
Warner	18	13	12	25	24
Tallman	18	11	14	25	10
Kemp	16	13	12	25	2
Hutchison	18	7	17	24	10
Mattison	18	10	13	23	6
Hill	18	13	9	22	0
Blanchard	15	12	9	21	8
Craig	15	12	6	18	17
Reld	16	6	11	17	8
Miller	17	8	3	11	23
Hale	8	6	4	10	8
Hann	15	2	7	9	18
Whitfield	4	1	2	3	2

Hann suffered the only serious injury of the season in the third game with Thorold. With a broken arm, Russ was out for the season, and Warner, who had been up high on the scoring list, was brought back on defense by Coach McVicar. The flu epidemic drained a number of the players, and continued to play havoc with the team, although not a member failed to show for a game.

DEAR DIARY: Well, that's the Group Championship. It's going to get tough from here on in. A lot of travelling, and it was sure good to have such a following. The fans from the Grimsby - Beamsville district, as well as all the other centres, deserve a lot of credit for giving such support to their team. It was surprising how many fans you could find in distant places.

March came in like a lion, and that's the way we marched through the first opposition in our fight for the Intermediate "B" Championship. The first victims were an easy mark. An industrial team, called the Brantford Waterous failed to show at all against our flying forwards and substantial defense, and we won the two games series handily. In Brantford we rapped in eight goals to their two, and impressed the Brantford fans considerably. Down here on home ice, we took the decision five to two, thereby winning the round thirteen to four. It wasn't much of a series.

The next was different. The Acton Tanners were considered as the team to beat, and they were good. They were good enough to beat us three goals to two in the first game, played in the quaint Acton rink. It was four to one down here in Peachtown, and we came out of this one with a sigh of relief. That four to one score was not a true indication of the play in the second game, again our three lines paid off in staying power. The Marzo brothers were pretty keen stuff, while an old timer named Kentner was good for a laugh. Boy, was he crude.

Round three took us all the way to Petrolia to meet the Sarnia Sailors. That bus trip will be remembered for a long time, and the climax came when we got a look at the so-called rink. The ice was devastating. You could get the same effect walking in the gutter on a slushy March day. Well, we got in the fight and got our feet wet, and also got beat three to two. It shouldn't happen to a dog. But we knew right then and there that victory was a certainty on good ice, and that's precisely what took place, as we took off on Uncle Tom's great surface in the second game.

With fifteen hundred fans in attendance we had little trouble in winning from the Sailors by a score of eight to three, to win the round ten goals to six. So that was round three, and already we could smell a Championship in the offing. The team spirit was tops, and was only marred by the all too frequent absence of Pop McVicar, due to illness. Pop sweated out a lot of hockey from his bed, and we were sure in there to win for Pop, the fans and ourselves.

The bell sounded for round four, and the opposition this time was Walkerton. After a slow opening we opened up, and from there on in, it was another sure thing. The trip to Walkerton was needless, but unfortunately a necessity. We took the round nineteen to four. It was a listless series. It's tough to play good hockey against a dull team. The Walkerton Capitals were not a good team. The only thing this series did for us was to sharpen us up for the final, and by this time we knew it would be the Markham Millionaires. People spoke of them in quiet tones, and we went into the final round for the Ontario Provincial Intermediate "B" Championship as an even bet to win. Perhaps little bits of conversation like Ronnie Kemp's often muttered "we just got to win", or the Gamecock's raspy voice shouting above the dressing room chatter "okay, gang, let's get rolling," had something to do with our spirit. Maybe it was the fact that our coaches deserved a winning team, or that Herbie Jarvis, who had done so much throughout this tough dirty thirty game season, deserved a winner. But mostly it was because we had the will to win in our own minds. You can't play together all winter without adopting a fighting spirit. But you cannot forget that the other team feels the same way about the whole thing. Anyhow, this was it.

DEAR DIARY: We just haven't got the time to open your tattered pages and enter this series as it should be. Down in the spacious Oshawa rink we battled hard to win the opener, and came through in the last seven minutes to break a five to five tie and go on to win eight to five. We sure were happy to win this one, but also we realized that this was the top team of all those we had met.

The Millionaires outplayed us in the second game in Grimsby, and the game went into overtime. We dominated that overtime period, as the Marks showed signs of weakening from the pace that had been set all night. Craig notched the winner after five minutes. It was a break for us and left us sitting pretty with two games in the bag. One to go.

Saturday, and the whole district was talking hockey. A special train, packed to the doors, pulled away from the station at 5.30, and countless fans made the trip to Oshawa by car.

The Millionaires took an early lead with three goals to our one in the first period. We fought hard and came within one marker of tying the score which ended in Markham's favor. The score was four to three.

DEAR DIARY: How is it that when a team wins two straight and then drops a game that everyone connected with the team is accused of throwing the contest. This happened after this game, and it certainly did not help our morale. We were on edge, here we were one game away from the Championship after starting the season as a mediocre club, and we get accused of throwing the game. It was hard to take.

Back on Grimsby ice for the fourth game. It was one to one at the end of the first. Two goals apiece at the conclusion of the second. Ditto the third. Overtime. This was the second overtime game of this series, and the law of averages seemed to call for a Markham team to get the break this time. They did. At 4.47 they scored what seemed like the winning goal. But the Peach Kings right then and there proved that they were Championship material.

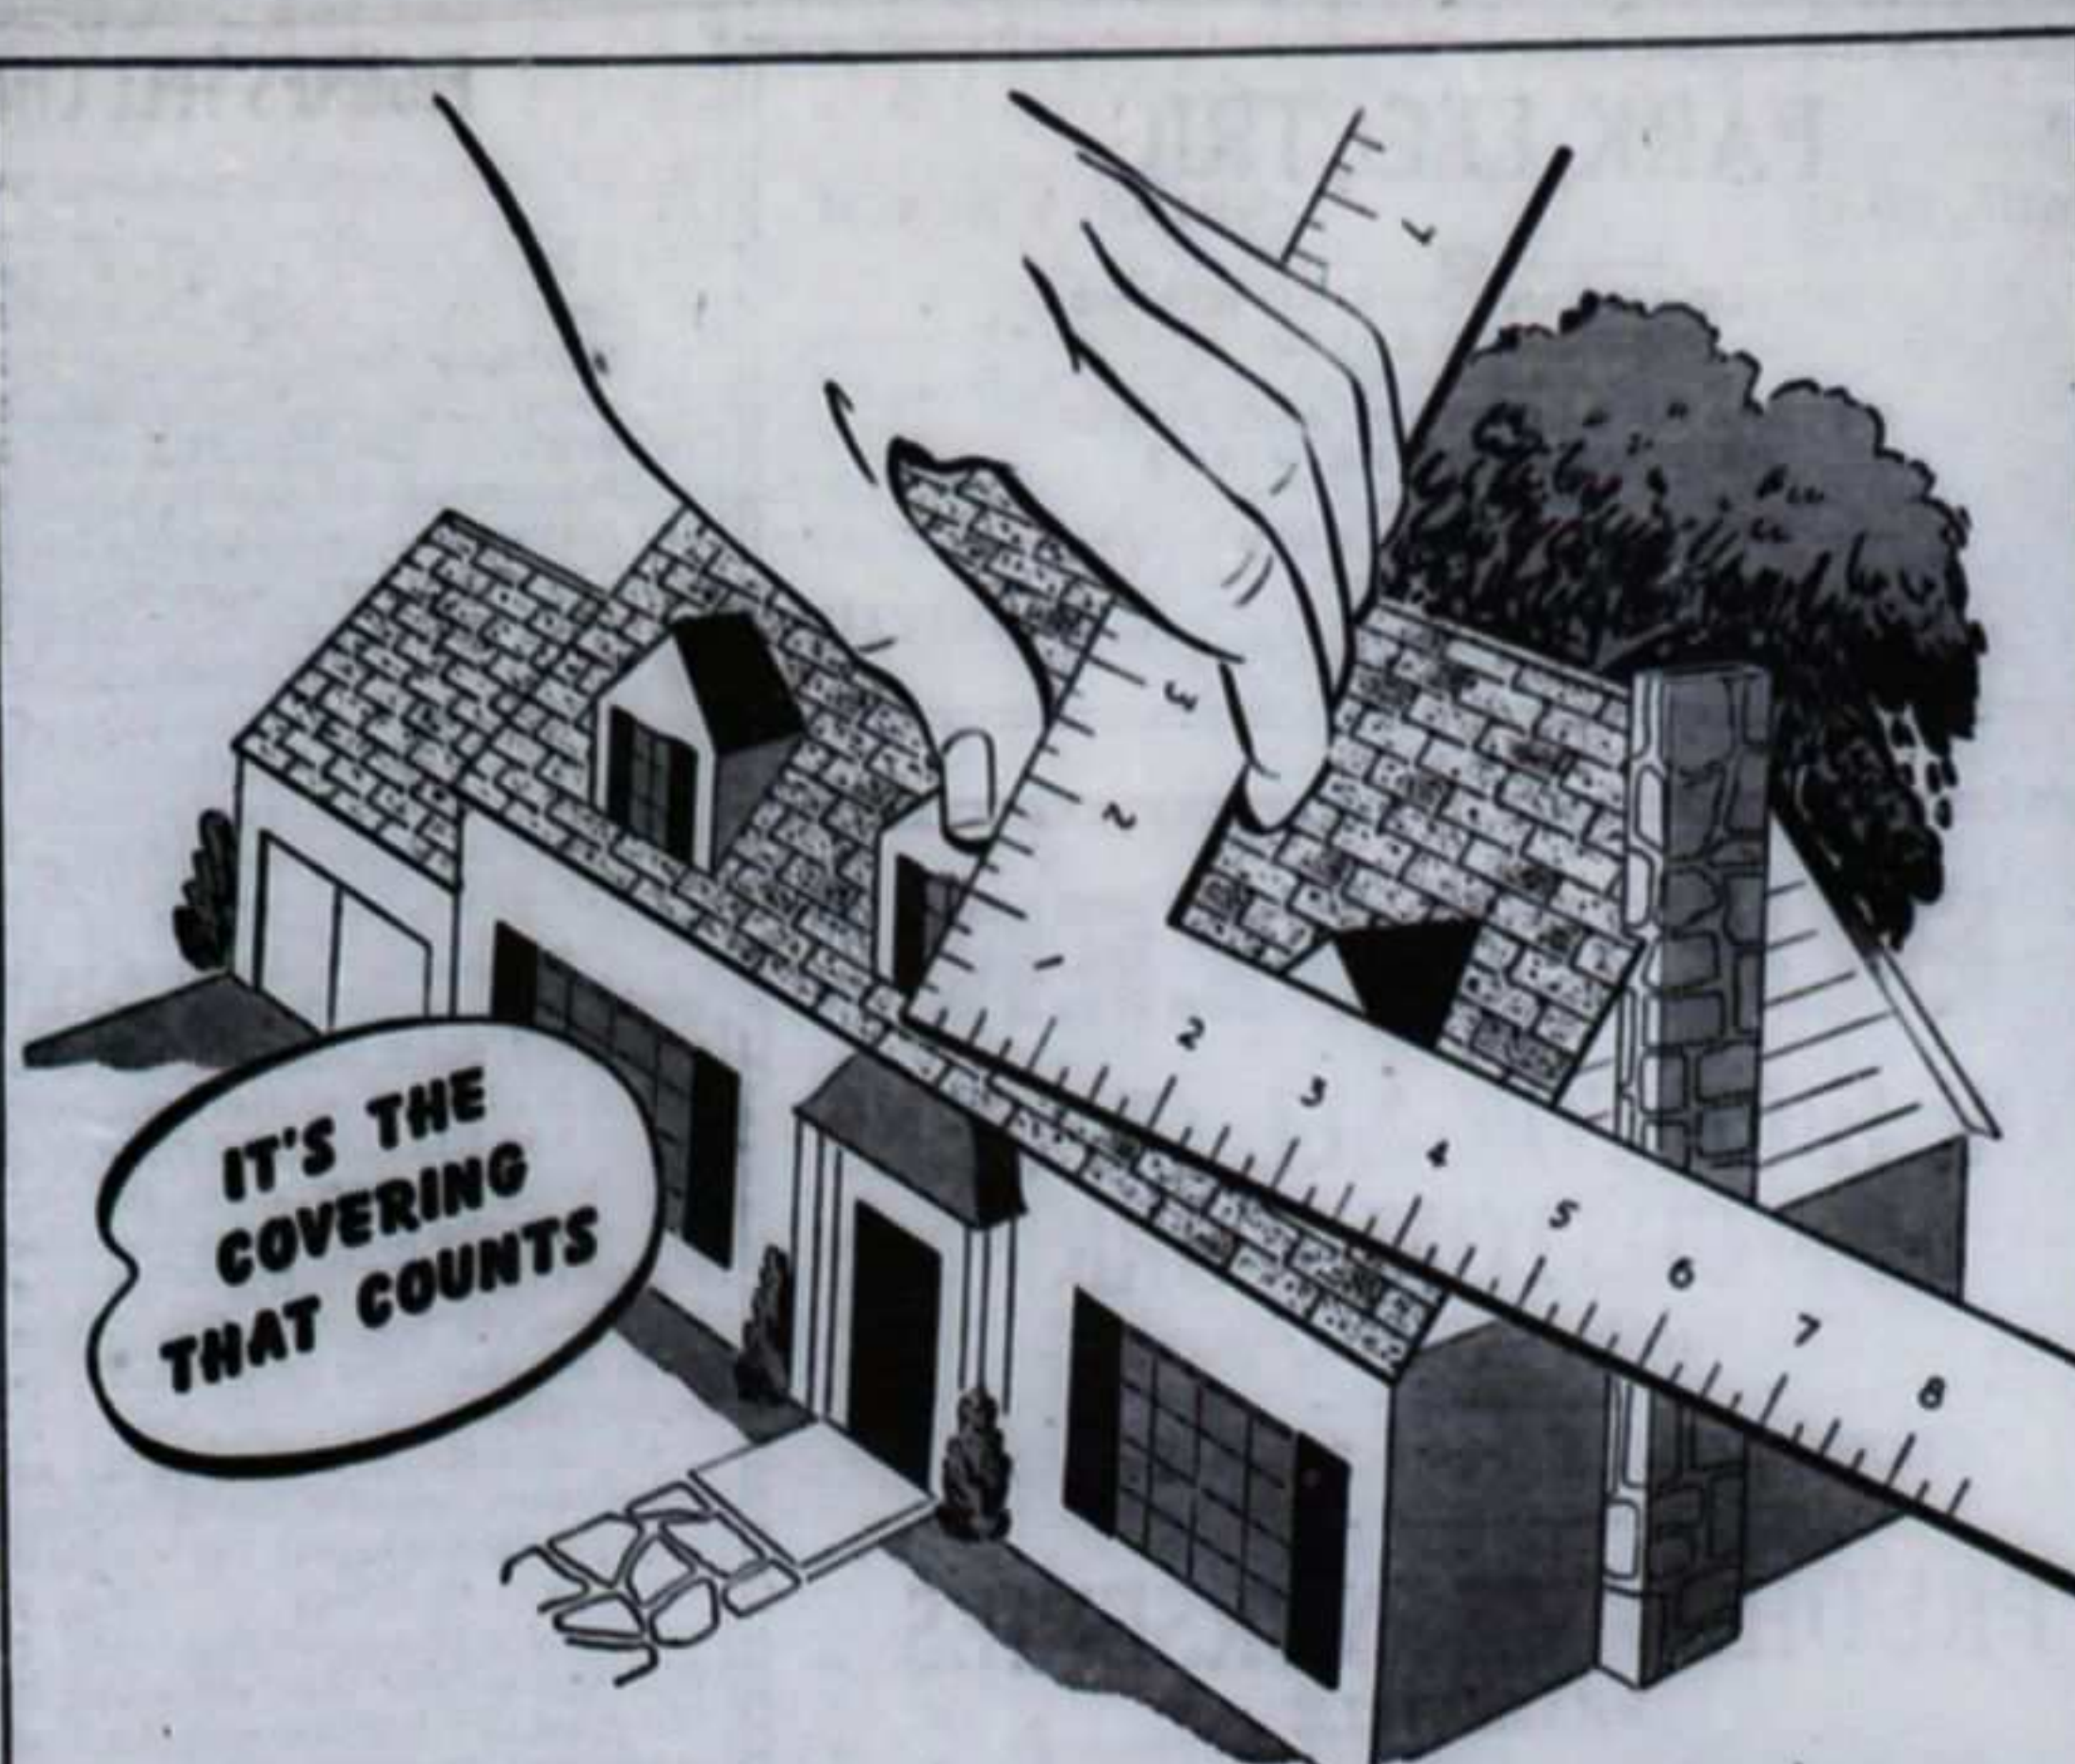

Normie Warner got the equalizer. Hutchison, with seconds to go scored another, and as the Millionaires went bankrupt, Craig notched another. It was over just like that. The Championship was ours.

DEAR DIARY: There is not much space left on your dog-eared pages. But your red and white cover still shines through the blood and sweat that has gone into your formation. Sure we are happy to win, sure we're glad to bring another Championship to the Fruit Belt.

On your last page, however, we just have to find space to put down in writing the final figures of each and every player who did his share in winning the crown. Their achievements have been cheered, their mistakes have been criticized—and rightly so.

Here are the final figures on the thirty game schedule. 22 wins and eight losses.

So George Zuke lived up to all expectations and headed the goals and assists division scoring sixty points all told. Bill Hutchison, in second place, really climbed after the playoffs started. Hutchison was one of the go-getters who won games when the chips were down. The Kid line fell by the way in the finals. They headed the scoring during the group, but the bigger and better team made the road tough for the kids in the semi-finals and the final with Markham. The Zuke-Mattison-Hill trio with one hundred and forty points was the high scoring trio. The Craig-Hale-Hutchison line are in place position with one hundred and sixteen points, while the Kid Line ended with eighty-eight.

Normie Warner gets the nod for the most penalized player with sixty-seven minutes spent in the cooler. Frank Hill with not one penalty gets the bouquet for the cleanest player.

And so, Diary, old thing, you have now within your covers the record of a Championship team. Truly this is the Diary of a Champion. It's been a long time since the Fruit Belt has been so wrapped up in this game of hockey, and it's been an even longer time since the fans stood and cheered such a grand bunch of guys. Right from the top down they were a grand bunch to work with, and now some two weeks after the final whistle, with the din slowly ebbing away, we rudgely close the pages of the 1947 Peach Kings, very thankful that through the pages of the Grimsby Independent and its great editor, we have had the opportunity to be associated with the Champs. MAPLE LEAFS AGES
The Maple Leafs and their ages—A lot has been said about the Toronto Maple Leafs, Stanley Cup winners, being the youngest squad to ever capture the famous trophy. Since that was said a lot of hockey fans have wondered just how young this team is, individually and collectively. The youngest member is Bill Barliko, just up from Hollywood, a long jump to a Stanley Cup squad. Barliko was born on March 25, 1927 which means it's only a month since he celebrated his 20th birthday.

"Jimmy" Thompson, whom many call "Baby Face," is just about a month older than Barliko, for Jimmy was born on February 23, 1927. Next in line are Teeder Kennedy, who was born on December 12, 1925, which means he's just 21. Gus Mortson and Vic Lynn are running pretty much neck and neck in age. Both were born in 1925 and both were born in January with Lynn's date being the 20th and Mortson's the 24th. Thus there's two days between them.

Nick Metz is the oldest member of the squad as Nick was born on February 16, 1914, the same year as Turk Broda, but the latter was born on May 15th of that year.

Captain Syl Apps has just turned 32, his birthday being last January 19th. He was born in 1915.

The 19 players on the squad total 472 years, which if you work it out comes to an average of 24 years and getting fairly close to the 25-mark.

For you who likes to delve in birthdays and ages here they are:
Syl Apps, January 19, 1915 (32).
xGus Bodnar, April 24, 1923 (24).
Garth Boesch, Oct. 7, 1920 (26).
Turk Broda, May 15, 1914 (32).
Bill Barliko, Mar. 25, 1927 (20).
Bill Ezinicki, Mar. 11, 1924 (23).
Bobby Goldham, May 12, 1922 (24).
Teeder Kennedy, Dec. 12, 1925 (21).
Joe Klukay, Nov. 6, 1922 (24).
Vic Lynn, January 26, 1925 (22).
Howie Meeker, Nov. 4, 1924 (22).
Nick Metz, Feb. 16, 1914 (33).
Don Metz, Jan. 19, 1916 (31).
Gus Mortson, Jan. 24, 1925 (22).
Bud Poile, Feb. 10, 1924 (23).
Wally Stanowski, Apr. 28, 1919 (27).
Gaye Stewart, June 28, 1923 (23).
Jimmy Thompson, Feb. 23, 1927 (20).
Harry Watson, May 6, 1923 (23).
Coach Hap Day, June 14, 1901 (46).
x—Gus had a birthday on Thursday of last week.

TREATMENT CONTROL
Under Canada's Food and Drug Act, there are certain conditions and diseases for which treatment may not be prescribed, except by a fully qualified person, and the Act prohibits the importation, sale or offer for sale of any article of food or drug advertised to the general public as treatment for these diseases.

Every disease concerned is serious enough to demand professional care. Therefore it is possible that remedies recommended to the public for them would be either dangerous or ineffectual and, by resorting to them, a patient would lose the benefit early medical care would have given.

CANADA'S 11 PREMIERS LAWYERS IN MAJORITY
A reader of the Ottawa Journal has furnished that newspaper with the following facts appertaining to the eleven Prime Ministers who have served the Dominion, as follows:
Their average age on entering office was 57 and the average age at death was 76.
Seven have been lawyers, one a doctor, one a stonemason, one a printer, one a political economist and civil servant.
Mr. King has been PM longer than anyone else and Sir Charles Tupper's ministry was the shortest. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was PM longest without a break in his term of office. Mr. King has headed the Government three times. Sir John Macdonald and Arthur Meighen twice.
Eight Prime Ministers have been members of the Imperial Privy Council. Six have been knights and one a baronet.
The oldest man to become PM was Sir Charles Tupper, who was 75 when he formed his government. The youngest, Mr. Meighen, was 44.
Sir John Abbott was a Senator when he was Prime Minister but all the other were members of the House of Commons. Sir Wilfrid Laurier sat in the Commons longer than any other PM, 44 years.
All the Prime Ministers except Alexander Mackenzie and Mackenzie Bowell were graduates of some college.
The first two PM's were born in Scotland and Sir M. Bowell in England. Three—Tupper, Thompson and Borden—were born in Nova Scotia. Laurier and Abbott were born in Quebec; Meighen and King in Ontario.
Two died in office—Sir John Thompson and Sir John Macdonald; Abbott, Borden and Bowell resigned. Five were never returned to office after having been beaten at the polls, and the eleventh, Mr. King, is still Prime Minister.

WARM WEATHER TIPS
"Don't demand too much of your body. Take it easy. Don't eat too many heat-producing foods, and, your liquid intake should be increased, too." This is advice for Canadians at this season of the year.
Medical authorities point out that when warm weather is on the way, special steps should be taken to conserve health.

CANADA'S NEWEST AND LARGEST

CANADA'S ENTRY in international and trans-oceanic flying is The North Star. Largely the product of native ideas and manufacture, it ranks with the world's best and it is now in the trans-Atlantic service of Trans-Canada Air Lines. The interior accommodation of T.C.A.'s newest and largest airliner, shown above, was planned to provide the maximum in comfort and attractiveness for air travellers. The chairs were especially designed to eliminate fatigue on long flights. A ladies' powder room is located back of the main cabin and a men's wash room up forward, both equipped with modern accessories. The picture of The North Star in flight shows the four powerful British-built Rolls-Royce engines; with two stages of super-charging they power the giant aircraft with 7,200 h.p. When cruising at an altitude of 26,400 feet, it has a maximum speed of 356 m.p.h., and a maximum cruising speed of 326 m.p.h.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The meeting elected A. R. Globe, W. R. Boehm, Frank Sutherland, Bruce Reid and Barry Garnham to the Board of Directors. Other members of the Board are M. S. Nelles, Fran. Laundry, N. Lane, representing municipalities, and Dr. J. H. Macmillan from the Medical Council.

At a subsequent meeting of the new Board, A. R. Globe was elected President; W. R. Boehm, Treasurer; B. H. Scott, Secretary; Margaret Metcalfe, Asst. Treasurer; C. S. Boyd and Wm. Lothian, Auditors.

It is understood that the new Board will at once take up the matter of a permanent laundry, laid out in such a way as to tie in with an extension for more beds.

A grant of $1500 has been made by the Lincoln County Council toward this work, and under the new Provincial Health Department arrangement a grant will also be available for this purpose.

Wolf Cub Pack

The Red Six held the Honour flag at last week's Grand Howl. Several members of A Pack were present at this meeting to receive their Team Players Badge.

This badge was earned by playing in the Lions Club Miniature National Hockey League during the winter. Those earning it were: George Stuart, John Brooks, Billy Tennant, Tom Little, John Mitchell, Nicky Racz, Bryan Tennant, and Larry Lambert. Several other members stand in line for this badge but have to finish their Second Star tests first.

A new game of Kangaroo relay was introduced and caused a lot of fun.

Jack Banzo and Jim Gregory passed their test on the composition of the Union Jack.

The 27 Cubs were divided into three groups according to size and tried a few times to "Skin-the-Snake".

John Mitchell, Larry Lambert and Nicky Racz received their proficiency badges as Observers.

At the end of the second month the Red Six of B Pack are the Competition leaders while the Brown and Blue Sixes are tied for the lead in A Pack.

CANNING SUGAR

The Ration Administration of the War-time Prices and Trade Board has announced that the first five coupons for canning sugar will become valid on May 15th.

The "Y" coupons in the present ration book will be used for the purchase of canning sugar this year. On May 15 coupons Y1 to Y5 inclusive will become valid. Each coupon is valid for the purchase of one pound of sugar, and the next five will be declared valid on July 15th.

These coupons may also be used for the purchase of rationed jams, jellies, and preserves.

NEW LIGHT

Plans are underway to give new light on many a dark subject. This is quite apart from the United States problem South of the Mason-Dixon line or a stock market analysis.

It is the many different objects for which a separate lighting equipment is planned. Here are a few of them.

A lady's compact with the mirror lighted by a tiny bulb and battery set, especially designed for theatre and auto. In the future a theatre may look like a swamp full of fire flies.

Then there is a razor with a built-in light, a pencil with its own light, a doctor's plastic tongue depressor with a light, a screw-driver with a light, a policeman's baton with a light, a reading glass, and a on, a phone with base lights.

There is no reason why acute hearing should not continue into ripe old age. The Department of National Health and Welfare, noting that nearly everyone is born with a keen sense of hearing, reminds those who may suffer from earache or loss of this faculty, to consult the family doctor. Loss of hearing may be due to an ear injury, but is possibly associated with some general physical condition on which only a doctor can advise.

EDISON: BOY PRINTER AND NEWSPAPER PROPRIETOR

(By ARTHUR WARREN, in Inland Printer)

The famous American inventor, Thomas Edison, spent part of his early years (very early) as reporter, compositor, pressman, and news agent.

At twelve, young Edison wanted money to buy materials for chemical experiments, and began to sell newspapers and sweets on the train running between Lake Huron and Detroit. He was allowed to make his headquarters in the baggage van, and soon he could be seen walking through the train, selling to the passengers and the people on the platforms of the various stations.

Then the Civil War broke out. There was a rush for newspapers, and Edison made record sales at fancy prices, having sold as many as 1,000 in one day. He was so elated that he decided to publish a newspaper himself.

He acted at once. In Detroit he bought a diminutive press which had been used for printing menu cards for a hotel, procured a font of type, and somehow learned to use these. Edison managed to haul his press and type on board. Behold the result! The Weekly Herald appears, three cents a copy, probably the first newspaper to be printed in a railway train.

The railway paper confined itself chiefly to giving out the news of the small places along the line. He gathered all this news from telegraph operators, railway workers, passengers, and tradesmen. He set the type and did the presswork while the train was in motion, in addition to selling candy, figs, dates, magazines, and, of course, his newspaper.

"About as large as a handkerchief" was the Weekly Herald. It was a three-column sheet, printed on both sides. There were some mistakes—but what could you expect when the compositor has to be his own proofreader and do so many other things?

Stephenson, the great British engineer, visited America about this time and he chanced to ride on Edison's train. He was much interested in this thoughtful boy's paper. After buying a copy and reading it he was warm in his praise.

"My compliments," he said. "Your newspaper is as good as many I have seen edited by men twice your age. Will you run me off a thousand copies—a special edition?"

That was a big order for the Edison Press. The usual edition was from one to two hundred a week, and it called for hard work to get out this extra thousand. But the papers were duly delivered and Stephenson passed them on so that they found their way to many parts of the world. Even the dignified English Times praised Edison's journalistic work and quoted choice extracts from the paper.

In addition to printing the paper, Edison used to study chemistry and perform experiments in the baggage-van. One fateful day the train gave a sudden jolt and a stick of phosphorus fell from a shelf to the floor. The chemical flared up with a fierce flame and a blinding smoke. Had not the conductor rushed in and extinguished the flames, the consequences might have been disastrous to the whole train.

Naturally the conductor was furious. He realized that the whole train might have been set on fire, and the lives of the passengers endangered. Then what could he say to excuse himself for letting a young boy take such liberties on his train? He boxed Edison's ears so soundly as to deafen him, and as soon as they pulled in to the next station pitched out press and type, chemicals and apparatus, and editor-comp-pressman as well.

With ears still tingling, Edison ruefully gathered up the wreckage, and returned home with what was left of the "Railway Press." But

SAFETY SERVICES

Fathers of Confederation could not have dreamed of health services which complexities of modern living demand. Federal, provincial and municipal authorities, working side by side, have established standards of sanitation and health-safety here second to none in the world.

Canadian health leaders declare that, for the maximum public health protection, every citizen should understand the services which exist, and how he must co-operate with them.

Medical authorities urge those who habitually squint to seek competent advice. A squint isn't funny, they agree—it's a tip to see the eye-specialist. Astigmatism causes blurred or distorted vision, and narrowing the eyelids and contracting pupils, won't make up for it. Squinting causes strain, fatigue, general discomfort and often headaches.

IS GRIMSBY GOING TO BECOME BOXING CENTRE

For some unaccountable reason there is a bunch of live-wire kids in Grimsby who all of a sudden have become boxing conscious, therefore we ask the question "Is Grimsby going to become a boxing centre?"

That bunch of kids living on Elm and Upper Oak streets unearthed a couple of sets of boxing gloves from somewhere and in order to do things up in real professional style they gathered together some stout pieces of lumber to use as posts, collected a bunch of rope and baled hay wire and proceeded to erect a regulation size ring on the United Distillery property.

Thus set, the boxing shows were started. Every day after school several bouts are staged and the kids really go for one another in grand style. There are classes for all the youngsters from flyweights to heavyweights and the lads are sure having a lot of fun not to count the guises and the odd black eye.

The kids are not the only ones that are having a grand time, but several of our mature citizens are becoming regular ringside spectators and getting a great kick out of it.

Who knows, a Jack Dempsey may sprout out of this boxing adventure.

Vinemount News

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thomas held a miscellaneous shower for Mr. and Mrs. Ronald King, formerly Audrey May Thomas, of Hamilton, in the Women's Institute Hall, Friday night, when one hundred friends and neighbours gathered and showered the bride and groom with many beautiful gifts. Euchre and dancing provided entertainment. Music for dancing by the following: Henry Durneski, Harry Milmine and the Hyatt Brothers, Grassies and the Miller Brothers, Stoney Creek. Refreshments were served by the host and hostess.

The Vinemount Women's Institute Hall was beautifully decorated for the wedding reception of Miss Mrs. Albert Koski, Vinemount, and Mrs. Albert Koski, Vinemount, and Mr. Kenneth Green, Hamilton. Archdeacon Scovell performed the ceremony in St. John's Anglican Church, Winona. One hundred guests were present and many beautiful gifts were received.
